The Solemnity of All Saints
November 1, 2020

Blessed are the clean of heart, for they shall see God.
 Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God.

Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness,
 For theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Matthew 5:8-10

OUR HOPE AND GOD'S PROMISE

The Church uses these waning November days and darker skies as the season to remind us of the last things. Today's feast, the Solemnity of All Saints, is the centerpiece of three days that point to doctrines we proclaim each time we say the Apostles' Creed: "We believe in the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body and life everlasting." And while the days and our hearts may be dark, the readings today are bright with the light of faith. John's vision in the book of Revelation reveals dazzling angels and white-robed saints gathered in triumph around the throne of God. In the responsorial psalm we sing our longing to see God's face, and in the second reading John writes that we are God's children and will, in fact, see God "as he is" (1 John 3:2). This is our hope. This is God's promise. Today we celebrate the triumph of those who already gaze on the face of God. Tomorrow we cry out for mercy with those in purgatory, who, like us on earth, still long to see God's face.

SAINT MARTIN DE PORRES (1579-1639)
November 3

An old illustration pictures Martin de Porres, finger to his lips—"Shhhh!"—as several mice peek out of sacristy vestment drawers, preparing to join a rodent "procession" following him out of church! Martin's rescue of these unwelcome guests, and statues depicting him, broom in hand, feeding a dog, cat, bird, and mouse from the same dish symbolize his life and sanctity. Initially denied entrance by the Dominicans because of his mixed race (Spanish father, Panamanian mother), Martin cherished society's marginalized. For him, menial tasks, lovingly done, were sacred. Great and lowly alike feasted on his charity. Enemies were reconciled by this "poor mulatto" (his self-description), kind even to those whose racism demeaned him. Apprenticed to a surgeon-barber in his youth—thus patron saint of hair stylists and public health providers—Martin dispensed healing and dignity to Lima's poorest, serving in them the Christ he adored for hours in the Blessed Sacrament. By the time he died, all Peru called him Martin the Charitable, a title even those of us who will never be called "saint" might still aspire to.

St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Naperville, to Hold a Virtual Program on Celebrating the Holidays during a Time of COVID-19 on Nov. 11, 2020

St. Thomas the Apostle schedules virtual program on celebrating the holidays despite COVID-19 effects. Thanks to COVID-19, the holidays this year will stir even deeper emotions and tension than usual because the virus has inflicted all kinds of losses in our lives. While grieving our losses is both important and healthy, it is equally important to figure out how to celebrate the holidays with healthy practices that also are meaningful.

For help in facing these holiday celebrations – and planning them – make it a point to attend the free virtual program, “Acknowledging Our COVID-19 Losses and Planning Healthy Holidays,” that will be held from 7 – 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 11. The program is being presented by the behavioral health ministry of St. Thomas the Apostle Catholic Church, 1500 Brookdale Road, Naperville.

Paula Kosin, the licensed clinical professional counselor (LCPC) who will facilitate the Zoom presentation, says, “During this meeting, we will acknowledge the losses we’ve suffered because of COVID as well as consider new ways to bring hope, laughter and gratitude to our 2020 holiday season.”

Kosin, also the facilitator of the grief group at St. Thomas, adds, “Our holidays this year may be missing some of our favorite traditions and people but we have to figure out ways to celebrate in healthy and meaningful ways. The discussion may even lead to starting some new traditions we can cherish with our families and friends in future years.”

Registration for access to “Acknowledging Our COVID-19 Losses and Planning Healthy Holidays” is required by Monday, Nov. 9. Registration and additional information about the program is available by contacting Susan Kearney, coordinator of the behavioral health ministry at St. Thomas, at sdkearney@comcast.net or (630) 355-8980, ext. 108.

In order to attend this program, participants need to have an email address; a personal computer, tablet or smartphone; and familiarity with the basics of joining a Zoom meeting. Participants’ email addresses will be confirmed and they will receive information about joining the session Tuesday, Nov. 10, the day before the program.

The behavioral health ministry at St. Thomas strives to break the stigma surrounding mental illness and to minister to the emotionally/mentally ill and their family and friends with confidentiality and respect through advocacy, prayer, education and support. Requests for help with a need or for more information about the behavioral health ministry also may be directed to Kearney at (630) 355-8980, ext. 108.
